Indonesia has different types of educational institutions including a state owned institution and a private one. However, recently, several types of educational institutions in Indonesia have some attention from the society in terms of the development of behavioral character of the youth that tend to be degrading. Effective communication of dakwah (preaching) at Pesantren MQ Tebuireng (MQ Tebuireng Islamic Boarding School) as well as akhlak (behavior) education is believed to be able to improve the behavior or so called akhlak of the Indonesian youth to be better. It can be seen from this study, a study at Pesantren MQ Tebuireng aimed at finding the influence and correlation between the effectivity of communication of dakwah and akhlak education towards students. This study is a Quantitative study. The data in this study are obtained through survey using a proportional stratification sample technique towards 172 students at Pesantren MQ Tebuireng. The study shows that there is a simultaneous influence between an effective communication of dakwah and akhlak education towards students where F_{count} of $18.009 > F_{\text{table}}$ of 3.05 . However, there is also a correlation with r value of $.749$. According to Priyato, the r value of $.60 - .799$ shows a strong correlation, i.e. between the effectivity of communication of dakwah and akhlak education towards students.
