

CONTENTS

APPROVAL LIST	i
LEGALIZATION	ii
DECLARATION OF OWNERSHIP	iii
ABSTRACT	iv
ABSTRAK	v
PREFACE	vi
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT	vii
CONTENT	viii
CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION
1.1. Background of the Research	1
1.2. Statement of Problems	3
1.3. Research Objectives	4
1.4. Research Significance	4
1.5. Definition of Key Terms	4
1.6. Organization of the Paper	5
CHAPTER II THEORETICAL FOUNDATION
2.1. Sentence	6
2.2. Subject Complement	9
2.3. Syntax	13

2.4. Transformational Grammar	14
2.5. Tree diagram	14

CHAPTER III RESEARCH METHOD

3.1. Research Method	15
3.2. Data	16
3.2.1. Source of Data	16
3.3. Techniques of Collecting Data	17
3.4. Techniques of Analyzing Data	18

CHAPTER IV DISCUSSION

1.1. The Types of Phrase as Subject Complement	19
1.1.1. The Type of Phrase as Subject Complement in Short Story of Aladdin Retold by Ruth Hobart	19
1.1.1.1. Noun Phrase	20
1.1.1.2. Adjective Phrase	41
1.1.1.3. Adverb Phrase	58
1.1.1.4. Prepositional Phrase	60
1.1.2. The Type of phrase as subject complement in Aladdin and other stories from the Arabian Nights adapted by John Escott	65
1.1.2.1. Noun Phrase	65
1.1.2.2. Adjective Phrase	76
1.1.2.3. Adverb Phrase	83
1.2. Prepositional Phrase	84

1.2.1. The Type of phrase as subject complement in short story of Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp adapted by Katherine Follett	87
1.2.1.1. Noun Phrase	87
1.2.1.2. Adjective Phrase	92
1.3.The relation between domination phrase and content	99
1.3.1. The Relation between Dominating Phrase as Subject Complement and the Content of the Story 1	99
1.3.2. The Relation between Dominating Phrase as Subject Complement and the Content of the Story 2	105
1.3.3. The Relation between Dominating Phrase as Subject Complement and the Content of the Story 3	109

CHAPTER V CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

5.1. Conclusions	113
5.2. Suggestions	114

BIBLIOGRAPHY	115
---------------------------	------------

BIOGRAPHY	117
------------------------	------------

APPENDICES

