

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

This chapter provides background of translation, purpose of translation, significance of translation and method of translation.

1.1 Background of Translation

Translation is the transfer source language (SL) to target language (TL) without changing the meaning in source language. In another hand, Catford (1965:20-21) claims that "Translation is the replacement of textual material in one language (SL) by equivalent textual material into the target language. It means that translation doesn't change the meaning of SL. The replacement text is important in using translation technique or method to create a readable, accuracy and acceptable translation. According to Ghazala (1995), "Translation is generally used to refer to all the process and methods of SL into the target language." In another word, the process of translation and the method of translation are important. The technique of translation will be influence language and structure of TL. It happens because of the language and culture of SL and TL are different.

In this final assignment as the requirement of graduation, translating book should be done. The book entitled Secrets of Young Achievers Exposed! written by Dale Beaumont and Brent Williams. This book has been inspired the translator to be a success human which is provided in interview form. So, it gives a good different for the translator because it is considered as more interesting and communicative. The book tells about some of young human achieved their aspiration in their fields.

It also gives the way to face the obstacles in doing the life. For the reason, the translator selects “Secrets Of Young Avhievers Exposed!” to be presented for the reader. It also helps the translator in developing translation skill. The translator get many new vocabularies about motivation or words of wisdom. The translator also gets any new vocabularies about education, desease, sport and entertainment from the chapter choosen by the translator. The book has featuring written material. They are twelve young achievers who has achieved their dream in their field. They are Bec Hewit, Jeremy Lim, Chelsea Georgeson, Amy Wilkins, Torah Bright, Hugh Evans and many more. There has been success in many different fields such as sport, entertainment, social and education. All of them are fabulious people who has never give up. However, there are three of them who have given much aspiration for the translator. In addition, this book has not correlation between every chapters. So the translator chooses the chapter randomly. The three of them are Amy Wilkins (Chapter I), Jeremy Lim (Chapter IV) and Bec Hewit (Chapter V).

Amy is a determined person who has achieved her dream in sport. She decided to get a career out of her passion in taking Human Movement study that has no correlation in sport but she still do an effort to get her dream in sport. Then Jeremy Lim as strong man having many obstacles. He has incurable desease, Osteogenesis Imperfecta. It has spent his life on a wheelchair. That condition doesn't break out his dreams, he gets many rewards in education. The last is Bec Hewit, she focuses on entertainment. Bec is an artist, model, and singer.

She gets many rewards of her ability in dancing and modelling. She is a great mom and a great wife. However, managing time is the best habit for her. She is so inspired.

1.2 Purpose of Translation

1. Fulfil the final task for the requirement of graduation as a student of English Vocational at Uin Sunan Gunung Djati Bandung
2. Develop translation to be acceptable and readable for the reader.
3. Finding the translation method better and enrich the vocabulary

1.3 Significance Of Translation

1. Give inspiration for people wanted achieve an aspiration from the experience of success person
2. Enrich knowledge of doing a success journey for the translator and the reader.
3. Give a bit of translation knowledge.

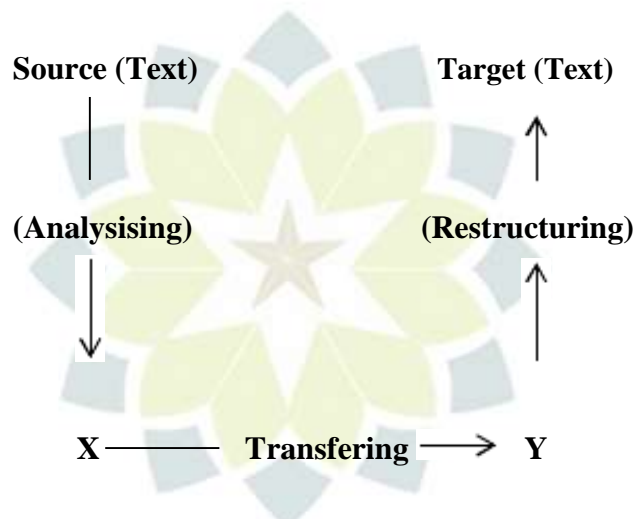

1.4 The Process Of Translation

Translating is the process of replacing the SL into the TL that has the same meaning with SL. According to Larson (1984:3) claims that translating is the transferring of message in the SL into the TL using lexical and grammatical structure based on the culture of the SL. In addition, the TL should be acceptable and readable. In getting a good translation, there are a process that have been done.

According to Nida and Taber (1982:33) there are three stage of translation:

1) Analysis, 2) Transfer, 3) Restructure.

(Translation process by Nida and Taber (1982:23))

Analysis is the first step to read and identify the difficult words. In analysing, there are some steps that translator or reseacher do. Nida and Taber (1982) claims that there are three major steps in analysing (1) Determining the meaningful of relationships between the words and combination of words, (2) The referentials meaning of the words and special combination of words, (3) The connotative meaning is how to use of the language react, wheter positively to the words and combinations of them. Then, transferring is the stage for translator's memory from the SL into the TL. The last stage is Restructuring. It is the stage to get acceptable message in the receptor language.

1.5 The Technique Of Translation

The reader will be understand if the text is readable. Not only for mother tounge but also another language such as a text that has been translated. Therefore, a translator has to translate well. The translator has to be understood the meaning of SL well. In that process, the translator needs the technique or methode of translation.

According to Molina and Albir (2002:498-512). There are 18 translation techniques:

1. Adaptation

According to Molina and Albir (2002:500), “A shift in cultural environment, ie., to express the message using a different situation, e.g. cycling for the french, cricket for the english and baseball for the American”

It means that adapation is the translation technique that using TL’s culture that has the same meaning with TL. The similarity of this technique assumed by Newmark (1988:46) that adaptation is the technique that SL’s culture close with TL’s culture. It has the same viewpoint.

For Example:

SL: Can't learn an old dog new tricks, as the saying is. (Twain, 1998:4:1)

TL: Tidak bisa mempelajari muslihat baru seekor anjing tua, kata pepatah. (Bikdi, 2011:3:1)

‘Saying’ at that sentences is translated to pepatah and it is only had by indonesian language as TL at the sentence.

2. Literal

According to Molina and Albir (2002:499), "Word for word translation, e.g., The ink is on the table and L'encre est sur la table." The similar theory is given by Newmark (1988:84) explain that Literal is the method in which SL grammatical constructions are converted to their nearest TL equivalents but the lexical words are again translated singly, out of context.

For example:

SL: And look at your mouth. (Twain, 1998:4:1)

TL: Dan lihat mulutmu (Bikdi, 2011:2:1)

It is translated literally that used word by word then it is adapted with grammatical.

3. Calque

It is the translation technique of word or phrase which can be lexical or structural.

For Example:

SL: The sun rose upon a tranquil world, and beamed down upon the peaceful village like a benediction. (Twain, EV, 1998:23:3)

TL: Mentari terbit di atas dunia yang tenang dan menyinari desa yang damai itu layaknya suatu berkah. (Bikdi, INDV, 2011:33:3)

4. Description

Description is the translation technique replacing the word or term with the description in TL.

For Example:

SL: I like Es Krim Sundae

TL: Saya suka Es Krim Sundae, makanan penutup khas Amerika

Es Krim Sundae is nothing in Indonesia, it is only had by another country as America. So, it uses description.

5. Compensation

It give information in the SL in another place in the TL. It is used because the information in SL can't be equalized with SL. So, the information replaced to get a good word choise.

For Example:

SL: In that vise he was borne across the house and de- posited in his own seat, under a peppering fire of giggles from the whole school.(Twain, 1998:48:6)

TL: Dia lalu dibawa menyebrangi kelas dan dibawa ke tempat duduknya sendiri diiringi tawa cekikan keras dari seluruh kelas. (Bikdi, 2011:74:4)

6. Borrowing

It is a technique that takes a word or expression straight from another language.

SL: You need to use computer

TL: Kamu perlu menggunakan komputer

7. Reduction

The abbreviation of the SL's information that has the same meaning with SL when translated.

For Example:

SL: Mom, why don't you woke me?

TL: Kenapa tidak membangunkanku?

8. Generalization

This technique uses the general term in TL

For Example:

SL: Becak

TL: Transportation

It is translated into general term because becak is part of transportation.

9. Particularization

Particularization is the technique that uses a concrete term.

SL: Transporation

TL: Becak

10. Modulation

This technique changes the point of view, focus or cognitive category in relation to the SL. Modulation can be lexical or structural.

For Example

SL: The boys talked little, and only under their breath, for the time and the place and the pervading solemnity and silence oppressed their spirits. (Twain, 1998:61:9)

TL: Anak-anak itu tidak banyak bicara, dan hanya dengus napas mereka yang terdengar, karena waktu itu dan tempat itu serta kekhidmatan dan kesunyian di situ membuat jiwa mereka tertekan. (Bikdi, 2011:97:9)

The view of that sentences is replaced, so the reader can know the meaning.

If it is translated literally it will be not readable.

11. Transposition

It uses the replacement of grammatical category.

For Example:

SL: He worshipped this new angel with furtive eye, till he saw that she had discovered him; then he pretended he did not know she was present, and began to "show off" in all sorts of aSLrd boyish ways, in order to win her admiration. (Twain, 1998:18:3)

TL: Tom mengagumi dan mencuri-curi memkamung bidadari baru ini sampai dia melihat bahwa gadis itu telah melihatnya, kemudian dia berpura-pura tidak tahu bahwa gadis itu ada, dan mulai "pamer" dengan segala kekanak-kanakan yang konyol agar gadis itu tertarik. (Bikdi, 2011:25:3)

Furtive eye is noun phrase and mencuri memkamung is Verb. It means that the sentence has the replacement of grammar.

12. Establish Equivalent

Establish equivalent is the technique that the term has been recognized in dictionary.

SL: Si Malin Kundang

TL: A betrayed Si Malin Kundang

13. Linguistic Compression

It is the addition of linguistic elements.

For Example

SL: Do you want to eat?

TL: Makan?

14. Amplification

The SL's detail information that is short, then added in SL.

For Example:

SL: As he was passing by the house where Jeff Thatcher lived, he saw a new girl in the garden — a lovely little blue-eyed creature with yellow hair plaited into two long tails, white summer frock and embroidered pan-talettes. (Twain, EV, 1998:18:3)

TL: Waktu melewati rumah Jeff Thatcher, dia melihat seorang anak perempuan yang belum dikenalnya di taman, seorang makhluk kecil mungil bermata biru dengan rambut kuning panjang dikepang dua, gaun putih musim panas, dan celana panjang ketat bersulam. (Bikdi, 2011:25)

15. Variation

Variation is the technique that change linguistic or paralinguistic elements (Intonation, gestures) that affect aspects of linguistic variation.

For Example:

SL: "There! I might 'a' thought of that closet. (Twain, 1998:3:1)

TL: Nah. Mestinya aku memikirkan kloset itu. (Bikdi, 2011:2:1)

16. Substitution

It is the changing of element that has expression or gesture than it is translated to the written such as give a head down, it is translated into “iya”

17. Discursive creation

It uses a word choices which establishes a temporary equivalence that is totally unpredictable out of context.

SL: In that vise he was borne across the house and de- posited in his own seat, under a peppering fire of giggles from the whole school.(Twain, 1998:48:6)

TL: Dia lalu dibawa menyeberangi kelas dan dibawa ke tempat duduknya sendiri diiringi tawa cekikan keras dari seluruh kelas. (Bikdi, 2011:74:4)

18. Linguistic Amplification

It is the addition of linguistic elements.

For Example:

SL: I take it

TL: Biar saya saja yang mengambil buku itu.
