Greetings authors and reviewers!

Thank you for your email. We are entering our summer months where JIWS slows down the review process. As a result, our office will be operating on a limited basis from May 7, 2020 through September 6, 2020 as we finalize spring tasks and prepare for the fall. During this time period we will not be accepting any initial manuscript submissions for consideration for publication. Any manuscripts received during this time frame will not be read nor considered. Revised re-submissions and incoming reviews will be processed as time permits.

If you would like to submit a new manuscript for publication consideration, you may do so beginning September 7, 2020. Again, if you are submitting an article with your email and receiving this message, please resubmit it after September 6th.

Though we are not accepting any manuscript submissions, we are accepting submissions for our online art exhibit for domestic violence awareness and support. Please include all relevant information with your artwork such as its title, size, description/relation to domestic violence, materials, and price.

We appreciate your interest in the Journal of International Women's Studies and look forward to reconnecting with you again in the fall! Stay safe and healthy!

Sincerely,

Studies Staff & Personnel

Good evening, Zaenal Mukarom!

Thank you for your revised re-submission. It will be forwarded to the appropriate personnel for consideration. When updates become available you will be notified promptly.

Please note that the Journal of International Women's Studies will be operating on a limited basis and limited availability from May 7, 2020 until September 6, 2020. Processing times will be slower than usual. We ask that you exercise patience during this time frame.

Have a great evening!

Review of JIWS submission

J IJWS IJWS 5 Feb kepada saya

Dear Zaenal Mukarom,

Thank you for your patience with us! We would like to accept your manuscript for publication in our January 2022 issue because the content is valuable.

However, it still has many confusing, overly long, and awkward sentences. We will have to request that you have it professionally copy-edited for grammar and English language errors as Grammarly did not do a very good job. We also kindly request that you revise the title to contain the location of "Indonesia" in it.

If you would like suggestions on copy-editors, please refer to our list found at the bottom of our submission policy page which I've linked below. Unfortunately, we have to insist that this be done given the extent of errors. If you have a colleague who is fluent and proficient in the English language, you are welcome to ask them for help.

https://vc.bridgew.edu/jiws/policies.html

Please have the copy-edited version back to us no later than October 1st, 2021 if you would like to be published in our January 2022 issue with a brief author biography (80 words or less).

Thank you!

Journal of International
Women's Studies: Article
Review Status Update

Book Mark

Good evening, Zaenal Mukarom!

The first review of your submitted manuscript has been completed with a recommendation to revise and resubmit for continued consideration. You can find the reviewer's comments attached to this email for your assessment to assist you in your revisions.

Should you choose to re-submit your manuscript, it will be due December 1, 2020 for consideration for publication in the January 2021 volume of the Journal of International Women's Studies. When completing your revisions, please either highlight the revised text or write it in a different color font so that the actual revisions can be readily identified upon final review.

If you do decide to re-submit a revised manuscript addressing the issues outlined by the reviewer, we look forward to it!

Sincerely,
